

Duty of Candour Report: 1 April 2024 - 31 March 2025

The Open Door Day Services Service

All health and social care services in Scotland have a Duty of Candour. This is a legal requirement which means that when things go wrong and mistakes happen, the people affected understand what has happened, receive an apology and that organisations learn how to improve for the future.

An important part of this duty is that we provide an annual report about the Duty of Candour in our services. This short report describes how our care service has operated the duty of candour during the time between 1 April 2024 and 31 March 2025. We hope you find this report useful.

1. How many incidents happened to which the duty of candour applies?

In the last year, there have been no incidents to which the Duty of Candour applied.

1. Information about our policies and procedures:

Where something has happened that triggers the Duty of Candour, our Day Services staff report this to the Day Services Manager who has responsibility for ensuring that the Duty of Candour procedure is followed.

The Day Services Manager records the incident and reports as necessary to the Care Inspectorate. When an incident has happened, the Day Services Manager and staff set up a learning review. This allows everyone involved to review what happened and identify changes for the future.

All staff complete Duty of Candour training. We know that serious mistakes can be distressing for staff as well as people who use care services and their families. We have staff supervision support in place for our staff if they have been affected by a Duty of Candour incident.
